DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. This application has been filed with informal drawings which are acceptable for examination purposes only. Formal drawings will be required when the application is allowed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

- (e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Deerwester (US Patent 5,778,362).

Regarding claim 1, Deerwester discloses a method for eliciting useful information from first and second collections of entities including the steps of obtaining the entities (see the abstract and column 1), obtaining affinity values (see column 2, lines 1-32). Deerwester also discloses that iteration is used for relevance feedback until the results stabilize within a predetermined threshold or are deemed to satisfy users' criteria (see column 7, line 50-column 8, line 11). Significance values read on relevance values of Deerwester. Besides, it is clear that iteration necessitates initialization of the significance values as claimed.

Art Unit: 2711

Regarding claim 2, the step of obtaining affinity values read on the values of the discrimination vector  $d$  where a large positive value indicates that the correspondent term occurred much more frequently than expected and a  $-1$  indicates that the term did not occur at all (see column 5, lines 30-50).

Regarding claims 3-4, Deerwester discloses the concept of a single set of entities, wherein affinity values are obtained for respective entities in the single set (see column 2, lines 1-7, 11-12, 16-32).

Regarding claim 5, the raw affinity values read on the scalar values disclosed by Deerwester in the calculation of derived affinity values for similarity measures (see column 1, line 60-column 2, line 50).

Regarding claim 6, Deerwester discloses the use of MIN and SUM operations in the step of deriving affinity values (see column 6, lines 46-50).

Regarding claim 7, the step of computing similarity values read on the calculation of similarity measures of Deerwester (see column 6, lines 35-62). Furthermore, calculating updated significance values clearly involves previous significance values and affinities as claimed.

Art Unit: 2711

Regarding claims 8-9, the iterated principal affinity component values read on the non-principal eigen vectors of the similarity matrix in the method of Deerwester (see column 6, line 60).

Regarding claim 10, Deerwester discloses updating the similarity matrix to obtain the useful information (see column 6, lines 46-60). Clearly the similarity matrix includes updated non-principal eigen vectors of the similarity matrix.

Regarding claim 11, Deerwester discloses the step of obtaining a cluster (see column 6, line 63-column 7, line 9).
